

About us

In Austria, around 4,000 experts in active committees develop standards for the domestic, European and global market. They represent the interests of the economy, consumers, research, administration and society.

Together with them, Austrian Standards – the Austrian competence centre for standards – finds solutions ensuring that everything fits together perfectly and life runs smoothly. Austrian Standards distributes know-how laid down in standards as quickly as possible so that people and the economy can profit from it.

Austrian Standards, established in 1920, is structured in the business divisions of development, consulting, publishing, training and certification and finances the standardization system by more than 80 per cent through the sale of its products and services. Its legal basis is defined in the Standardization Act (Normengesetz 1971).

Austrian Standards is an internationally renowned member of the European Committee for Standardization (CEN) and the International Organization for Standardization (ISO).

Austrian Standards ...

- ... supports the economy, administration, science and consumers in setting standards,
- ... organizes and manages committees drafting and developing standards,
- ... publishes national, European and International standards,
- ... maintains relations with other standards organizations all over the world,
- ... assists Austria's best-practice experts in playing a leading role in shaping European and international standards.

Austrian Standards is Member of © Copyright 2015 - Austrian Standards Imprint : Terms & Conditions : Legal notice : Sitemap