

United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime

عربي 中文 English Français Русский Español

Country:  Poland

Year: 1996

Available languages: English

Keywords:  Treaties (Extradition)

EXTRADITION TREATY BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA AND THE REPUBLIC OF POLAND

The United States of America and the Republic of Poland;

Recalling the Extradition Treaty and accompanying Protocol between the United States of America and the [16] Republic of Poland signed at Warsaw November 22, 1927 and the Supplementary Extradition Treaty signed at Warsaw April 5, 1935; and

Desiring to provide for more effective cooperation between the two States in the suppression of crime and to facilitate the relations between the two States in the area of extradition by concluding a new treaty for the extradition of offenders;

Have agreed as follows:

Article 1

Obligation to Extradite

The Contracting States agree to extradite to each other, pursuant to the provisions of this Treaty, persons whom the authorities in the Requesting State seek for prosecution or have found guilty of an extraditable offense.

Article 2

Extraditable Offenses

1. An offense shall be an extraditable offense if it is punishable under the laws in both Contracting States by deprivation of liberty for a maximum period of more than one year or by a more severe penalty.
2. An offense shall also be an extraditable offense if it consists of an attempt to commit, or participation in the commission of, an offense described in paragraph 1 of this Article. Any type of association to commit offenses described in paragraph 1 of this Article, as provided by the laws of Poland, [17] and conspiracy to commit an offense described in paragraph 1 of this Article, as provided by the laws of the United States, shall also be extraditable offenses.
3. For the purposes of this Article, an offense shall be an extraditable offense:
 - (a) whether or not the laws in the Contracting States place the offense within the same category of offenses or describe the offense by the same terminology; or
 - (b) whether or not the offense is one for which United States federal law requires the showing of such matters as interstate transportation, or use of the mails or of other facilities affecting interstate or foreign commerce, such matters being merely for the purpose of establishing jurisdiction in a United States federal court.
4. If the offense has been committed outside the territory of the Requesting State, extradition shall be granted if the laws in the Requested State provide for the punishment of an offense committed outside its territory in similar circumstances. If the laws in the Requested State do not so provide, the executive authority of the Requested State may, in its discretion, grant extradition.

5. If extradition has been granted for an extraditable offense, it [18] shall also be granted for any other offense specified in the request, even if the latter offense is punishable by deprivation of liberty for one year or less, provided that all other requirements for extradition are met.

Article 3

Fiscal Offenses

An offense shall also be an extraditable offense if it consists of an offense in connection with taxes, duties, international transfers of funds, and importation, exportation, and transit of goods, even if the law of the Requested State does not require the same type of fee or tax or does not regulate fees, taxes, duties, transit of goods, and currency transactions in the same manner as the law of the Requesting State.

Article 4

Nationality

1. Neither Contracting State shall be bound to extradite its own nationals, but the Executive Authority of the Requested State shall have the power to extradite such persons if, in its discretion, it be deemed proper and possible to do so.

2. If extradition is refused solely on the basis of the nationality of the person sought, the Requested State shall, at the request of the Requesting State, submit the case to its competent authorities for a decision as to prosecution.

Article 5

Political and Military [19] Offenses

1. Extradition shall not be granted if the offense for which extradition is requested is an offense of a political character.

2. For the purposes of this Treaty, the following offenses shall not be considered to be of a political character:

(a) murder or any other offense against the person of a Head of State of one of the Contracting States, or of a member of the Head of State's family;

(b) an offense for which both Contracting States have the obligation pursuant to a multilateral international agreement to extradite the person sought or to submit the case to their competent authorities for decision as to prosecution; and

(c) murder, manslaughter, malicious wounding, or inflicting grievous bodily harm or other grievous injury to health;

(d) an offense involving kidnapping, abduction, or any form of unlawful detention, including the taking of a hostage;

(e) placing or using an explosive, incendiary or destructive device capable of endangering life, of causing substantial bodily harm, or of causing substantial property damage; and,

(f) an attempt to commit, or participation in the commission of, any of the foregoing offenses, as well as an association to commit [20] these offenses as provided by the laws of Poland, or conspiracy to commit these offenses as provided by the laws of the United States.

3. Notwithstanding paragraph 2 of this Article, extradition shall not be granted if the executive authority of the Requested State determines that the request was politically motivated.

4. The executive authority of the Requested State may refuse extradition for offenses under military law which are not offenses under ordinary criminal law.

Article 6

Capital Punishment

1. When the offense for which extradition is sought is punishable by death under the laws in the Requesting State and is not punishable by death under the laws in the Requested State, the Requested State may refuse extradition unless the Requesting State, if so requested, provides assurances that the death penalty will not be imposed or, if imposed, will not be carried out.

2. In instances in which a Requesting State provides an assurance in accordance with paragraph 1 of this Article, the death penalty, if imposed by the courts of the Requesting State, shall not be carried out.

Article 7

Prior Prosecution

1. Extradition shall not be granted when the person sought has been convicted [21] or acquitted with final and binding effect in the Requested State for the offense for which extradition is requested.

2. Extradition shall not be precluded by the fact that the competent authorities in the Requested State have decided either:

(a) not to prosecute the person sought for the acts for which extradition is requested; or

(b) to discontinue any criminal proceedings which have been instituted against the person sought for those acts.

Article 8

Lapse of Time

Extradition shall not be granted when the prosecution or the enforcement of the penalty for the offense for which extradition has been sought has become barred by lapse of time according to the law of the Requesting State.

Article 9

Extradition Procedures and Required Documents

1. A request for extradition shall be submitted through the diplomatic channel.

2. A request for extradition shall be supported by:

(a) documents, statements, or other types of information which describe the identity, nationality, and probable location of the person sought;

(b) information describing the facts of the offense and the procedural history of the case;

(c) the text of the law describing the essential elements of the offense [22] for which extradition is requested;

(d) the text of the law prescribing the punishment for the offense;

(e) a statement of the provisions of law describing any time limit on the prosecution or enforcement of the penalty for the offense for which extradition has been sought; and

(f) the documents, statements, or other types of information specified in paragraph 3 or paragraph 4 of this Article, as applicable.

3. A request for extradition of a person who is sought for prosecution shall also be supported by:

(a) a copy of the warrant or order of arrest, if any, issued by a judge or other competent authority;

(b) a copy of the charging document, if any; and

(c) such information as would justify the committal for trial of the person if the offense had been committed in the Requested State.

4. A request for extradition relating to a person who has been found guilty of the offense for which extradition is sought shall also be supported by:

(a) a copy of the warrant or order of arrest, if any, issued by a judge or other competent authority;

(b) a copy of the judgment of conviction or, if such copy is not available, a statement by a judicial authority that the person [23] has been found guilty;

(c) information establishing that the person sought is the person to whom the finding of guilt refers;

(d) a copy of the sentence imposed, if the person sought has been sentenced, and a statement establishing to what extent the sentence has been carried out; and

(e) in the case of a person who has been convicted in absentia, the documents required in paragraph 3.

Article 10

Admissibility of Documents

The documents which accompany an extradition request shall be received and admitted as evidence in extradition proceedings if:

(a) in the case of a request from the United States, they are certified by the proper diplomatic or consular representative of the Republic of Poland in the United States;

(b) in the case of a request from the Republic of Poland, they are certified by the principal diplomatic or consular officer of the United States resident in the Republic of Poland, as provided by the extradition laws of the United States; or

(c) they are certified or authenticated in any other manner accepted by the law of the Requested State.

Article 11

Translation

All documents submitted by the Requesting State shall be translated into the language [24] of the Requested State.

Article 12

Provisional Arrest

1. In case of urgency, a Contracting State may apply for the provisional arrest of the person sought before the request for extradition is submitted. An application for provisional arrest may be transmitted through the diplomatic channel or directly between the United States Department of Justice and the Ministry of Justice of the Republic of Poland. The facilities of the International Criminal Police Organization (INTERPOL) may be used to transmit such a request.

2. The application for provisional arrest shall contain:

- (a) a description of the person sought and information concerning the person's nationality;
- (b) the location of the person sought, if known;
- (c) a brief statement of the facts of the case, including, if possible, the time and location of the offense;
- (d) a description of the laws violated;
- (e) a statement of the existence of either:
 - (i) a warrant of arrest for a person sought for prosecution or already found guilty but not yet sentenced, or
 - (ii) a judgment of conviction against a person sought for the enforcement of a sentence; and
- (f) a statement that a request for extradition for the person [25] sought will follow.

3. The Requesting State shall be notified without delay of the disposition of its application and the reasons for any denial.

4. A person who is provisionally arrested shall be discharged from custody upon the expiration of sixty (60) days from the date of provisional arrest pursuant to this Treaty if the executive authority of the Requested State has not received the formal request for extradition and the supporting documents required in Article 9.

5. The fact that the person sought has been discharged from custody pursuant to paragraph (4) of this Article shall not prejudice the subsequent rearrest and extradition of that person if the extradition request and supporting documents are delivered at a later date.

Article 13

Additional Information

If the Requested State considers that the information furnished in support of a request for extradition is not sufficient to fulfill the requirements of this Treaty, that State may request that additional information be furnished within such a reasonable length of time as it specifies. Such additional information may be requested and furnished directly between the United States Department of Justice and the Ministry of [26] Justice of Poland or through the diplomatic channel.

Article 14

Decision and Surrender

1. The Requested State shall promptly notify the Requesting State of its decision on the request for extradition.

2. If the request is denied in whole or in part, the Requested State shall provide an explanation of the reasons for the denial. The Requested State shall provide copies of pertinent judicial decisions upon request.
3. If the request for extradition is granted, the authorities of the Contracting States shall agree on the time and place for the surrender of the person sought.
4. Surrender of the person sought shall take place within such time as may be prescribed by the laws of the Requested State. If the law of the Requested State does not provide a specific time for surrender, it shall take place within thirty (30) days from the date on which the Requesting State is notified of the decision to extradite.
5. If the person sought is not removed from the territory of the Requested State within the time required under paragraph (4), he may be set at liberty. The Requested State may subsequently refuse to extradite the person sought for the same offense.
6. If circumstances beyond its control [27] prevent a Contracting State from timely surrendering or taking delivery of the person to be extradited, it shall notify the other Contracting State before the expiration of the time limit. In such a case the competent authorities of the Contracting States may agree upon a new date for the surrender.

Article 15

Convictions in Absentia

If a Contracting State has applied to the other State for extradition of a person convicted in absentia, the executive authority of the Requested State may refuse to surrender the person if it deems that the proceedings in absentia did not ensure the minimum right to defense to which the person charged is entitled. Extradition may be effected, however, if the Requesting State guarantees, in a manner deemed adequate, that the case against the person whose extradition is requested will be reopened, with a guaranteed right of defense.

Article 16

Temporary and Deferred Surrender

1. If the extradition request is granted in the case of a person who is being prosecuted for an offense other than that for which extradition is sought or is serving a sentence in the territory of the Requested State for an offense other than that for which extradition is sought, [28] the Requested State may temporarily surrender the person sought to the Requesting State for the purpose of prosecution. The person so surrendered shall be kept in custody in the Requesting State and shall be returned to the Requested State after the conclusion of the proceedings against that person, in accordance with conditions to be determined by agreement of the Contracting States.
2. The Requested State may postpone the extradition proceedings against a person who is being prosecuted for the same offense for which that person is sought or any other offense, or who is serving a sentence in that State for an offense other than that for which extradition is sought. The postponement shall continue until the prosecution of the person sought has been concluded or until such person has served any sentence imposed.

Article 17

Requests for Extradition Made by Several States

If the Requested State receives requests from the other Contracting State and from any other State or States for the extradition of the same person, either for the same offense or for different offenses, the executive authority of the Requested State shall determine to which State it will surrender the person. In making [29] its decision, the Requested State shall consider all relevant factors, including but not limited to:

- (a) whether the requests were made pursuant to treaty;
- (b) the place where each offense was committed;
- (c) the gravity of the offenses;
- (d) the nationality of the victim;
- (e) the possibility of further extradition between the Requesting States; and
- (f) the chronological order in which the requests were received from the Requesting States.

Article 18

Seizure and Surrender of Property

1. To the extent permitted under its law, the Requested State may seize and surrender to the Requesting State all articles, documents, and evidence connected with the offense in respect of which extradition is granted. The items mentioned in this Article may be surrendered, to the extent permitted under the law of the Requested State, even when extradition cannot be effected due to the death, disappearance, or escape of the person sought.
2. The Requested State may condition the surrender of the property upon satisfactory assurances from the Requesting State that the property will be returned to the Requested State as soon as practicable. The Requested State may also defer the surrender [30] of such property if it is needed as evidence in the Requested State.
3. The rights of third parties in such property shall be duly respected.

Article 19

Rule of Speciality

1. A person extradited under this Treaty may not be detained, prosecuted, sentenced, or punished in the Requesting State except for:
 - (a) an offense for which extradition has been granted or a differently denominated offense based on the same facts on which extradition was granted, provided such offense is extraditable or is a lesser form of such offense;
 - (b) an offense committed after the extradition of the person; or
 - (c) an offense for which the executive authority of the Requested State has consented to the person's detention, prosecution, sentencing, or punishment. For the purpose of this subparagraph:
 - (i) the Requested State may require the submission of the documents specified in Article 9; and
 - (ii) unless the Requested State objects in writing, the person extradited may be detained by the Requesting State for ninety (90) days, or for such longer period of time as the Requested State may authorize, while the request is being processed.
2. A person extradited under this Treaty may not be extradited [31] to a third State for an offense committed prior to the surrender unless the surrendering State consents.

3. Paragraphs 1 and 2 of this Article shall not prevent the detention, prosecution, sentencing, or punishment of an extradited person, or the extradition of that person to a third State, if:

(a) that person leaves the territory of the Requesting State after extradition and voluntarily returns to it; or

(b) that person does not leave the territory of the Requesting State within thirty (30) days of the day on which that person is free to leave.

Article 20

Simplified Extradition

If the extradition of a person sought to the Requesting State is not obviously precluded by the laws of the Requested State and provided the person sought irrevocably agrees in writing to his extradition after personally being advised by a judge or competent magistrate of his rights to formal extradition proceedings and the protection afforded by them that he would lose, the Requested State may surrender the person sought without a formal extradition proceeding having taken place. In this case Article 19 shall not be applicable.

Article 21

Transit

1. Either Contracting State may authorize transportation [32] through its territory of a person surrendered to the other State by a third State. A request for transit shall be made through the diplomatic channel or directly between the United States Department of Justice and the Ministry of Justice of the Republic of Poland. The facilities of the International Criminal Police Organization (INTERPOL) may be used to transmit such a request. It shall contain a description of the person being transported and a brief statement of the facts of the case. A person in transit may be detained in custody during the period of transit.

2. No authorization is required where air transportation is being used by one Contracting State and no landing is scheduled on the territory of the other Contracting State. If an unscheduled landing occurs on the territory of the other Contracting State, that Contracting State may require the request for transit as provided in paragraph 1. That Contracting State may detain the person to be transported until the request for transit is received and the transit is effected, so long as the request is received within ninety-six (96) hours of the unscheduled landing.

Article 22

Representation and Expenses

1. The Requested State [33] shall assist, appear in court, and represent the interests of the Requesting State, in any proceeding arising out of a request for extradition.

2. The Requesting State shall bear the expenses related to the translation of documents and the transportation of the person surrendered. The Requested State shall pay all other expenses incurred in that State by reason of the extradition proceedings.

3. Neither State shall make any other pecuniary claim against the other State arising out of extradition procedures under this Treaty.

Article 23

Consultation

1. The United States Department of Justice and Ministry of Justice of the Republic of Poland may consult with each other directly or through the facilities of INTERPOL in connection with the processing of individual cases and in furtherance of maintaining and improving procedures for the implementation of this Treaty.
2. The Requesting State shall, at the request of the Requested State, inform the Requested State of the status of criminal proceedings against persons who have been extradited, and provide a copy of the final and binding decision if one has been issued in the case in question.

Article 24

Application

This Treaty shall apply [34] to offenses committed before as well as after the date it enters into force. If, however, an offense was committed before this Treaty enters into force and was not an offense under the laws of both Contracting States at the time of its commission, the executive authority of the Requested State may, in its discretion, grant extradition.

Article 25

Executive Authorities

For the United States of America, the executive authority shall be the Secretary of State or a person designated by the Secretary of State. For Poland, the executive authority shall be the Minister of Justice-Attorney General or a person designated by the Minister of Justice-Attorney General.

Article 26

Ratification and Entry into Force

1. This Treaty shall be subject to ratification, and the instruments of ratification shall be exchanged at Warsaw as soon as possible.
2. This Treaty shall enter into force 30 days after the exchange of the instruments of ratification.
3. Upon the entry into force of this Treaty, the Treaty of Extradition between the United States of America and the Republic of Poland and Accompanying Protocol signed at Warsaw November 22, 1927, and the Supplementary Extradition Treaty signed at Warsaw [35] April 5, 1935, shall cease to have effect between the United States of America and the Republic of Poland. Nevertheless, the 1927 Treaty, as supplemented in 1935, shall apply to any extradition proceedings in which extradition documents have already been submitted to the Requested State at the time this Treaty enters into force, except that Articles 2, 3, 5, 16, 19, and 20 of this Treaty shall be applicable to such proceedings. Article 19 of this Treaty shall apply to persons found extraditable under the prior Treaty.

Article 27

Termination

Either Contracting State may terminate this Treaty at any time by giving written notice to the other Contracting State, and the termination shall be effective six months after the date of the receipt of such notice.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the undersigned, being duly authorized by their respective Governments have signed this Treaty.

DONE at Washington, this tenth day of July, 1996, in duplicate, in the English and Polish languages, both texts being equally authentic.

FOR THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA:

FOR THE REPUBLIC OF POLAND

Back to country view View all countries

Copyright©2015 UNODC, All Rights Reserved,