About Us

In August 2012 the Cyber Security Council Germany was founded by renowned personalities. After the council's recent registration in the Register of Associations, the association now starts working. The association located in Berlin is politically neutral, pursuing the objective to consult companies, authorities and political decision-makers in the field of cyber security.

The president of the elected board comprising four persons is Arne Schönbohm, expert in cyber security and chief executive officer of the company BSS AG, while Hans-Wilhelm Dünn acts as vice president. The board is supplemented by Bernhard Witthaut, Chief Constable of the Osnabrück Police Directorate, and Prof. Dr. Dr. h.c. Werner Weidenfeld, director of the Centre for Applied Political Research (CAP), long-standing consultant of various federal governments and the European Union as well as coordinator of the German-American relations for 10 years. The members of the association come from big and medium-sized enterprises, are operators of critical infrastructural systems as well as experts and political decision-makers with relation to the subject of cyber security.
