

- RINSA
 - About RINSA
 - Organization/Function
 - Research activities
 - Conferences
 - Publications
-
- Library

Home > Affiliated organization > About RINSA > Vision/Objectives

Research Institute for National Security Affairs : About RINSA

- Message
- Vision/Objectives
- Tasks/History

● Vision & Objectives

Vision 2015

A Competitive National Security Institute that contributes to the ROK's Security and Global Peace

Objectives

- Establish a competitive research system in the field of national security
 - Establish a firm basis for defense and security related research
 - Ensure prestige over institute - issued publications
- Enhance the role as a Think-tank on national defense policies
 - Creative and future-oriented research attitude toward policy making
 - Expansion of specialized research function
- Form a consciousness among security communities between civilians, government and military
 - Increase collaborate exchange with research centers domestic and abroad
 - Serve as a mediator to bridge the people and government in the area of security

● Establishment

RINSA is a national research institute that primarily conducts research on security strategies, international affairs, North Korean affairs, military affairs, multilateral security, and defense information and science. Ultimately, based on research results, recommending appropriate courses of action to policy makers.